There will be a debate at Sayers' school house next Saturday night. The question is, Resolve, "That woman has done more to Christianize and moralize the world than man". All come as the decision rendered will be the destiny of man as regards his sphere in life.

Sunday school at this place was organized Friday night, and as Christ entered into the synagogue on the first day of the week, so the youthful as well as the aged, now have the opportunity of the same instructions as his hearers, and as we have Mrs. Lou Purcell as our superintendent, it can be no less than a glowing success.

Miss Lizzie Painter and your humble servant had the pleasure of visiting Crab Orchard Saturday last. On reaching the station, were met by Miss Rebecca Mullins and immediately, all drove to the Baptist church to enjoy the teacher's meeting. Twelve o'clock having elapsed, we were, soon, at Brown's Springs, where we exchanged many words, enjoyed a kings and queen's dinner, together with the lovely shade and balmy breeze. Then returned to the place of meeting and awaited the adjournment, then continued our journey to Ottenheim, where we were greeted by the Germans, visited the Catholic services, which was a great curiosity to those who never witnessed that mode of worship, and on Monday returned home.

MR. A.W. STEWART

Yields to the Demand of his People To Run for Sheriff.

His Card Accepting the Nomination.

To the voters of Rockcastle:—

The citizens of this county irrespective of party or politics have for more than two months urged upon me to make the race for the important office of sheriff of Rockcastle county. During all of that time I have repeatedly refused desiring to continue to live as I have always done—a quiet farm life in the bosom of my devoted family. The Democratic County Committee met last week and nominated me which was wholly without any solicitation upon my part. In addition to my nomination, the request and demands have become so frequent and strong that they force me to the conclusion that it my duty as an humble citizen to accept the call and make the race, trusting and believing that a sufficient number of the voters will go to work for my election and crown this acceptance with victory.

If elected I shall strive to reflect credit upon the county where I was born and raised and in which I am so deeply interested.

If elected—and that question is with the people—I shall give a bond as sheriff, the sufficiency of which, no man can doubt. I shall do my very best to promptly collect the taxes, and execute your civil and criminal papers. The county claims allowed to our citizens by the Fiscal court will be paid off as speedily as possible and the road claims will be settled as soon as allowed each year in which the work is done.

I pledge to the voters of this county that I will honestly, fairly and promptly discharge each and every duty connected with the office of sheriff and will render to them each year a true and perfect account of my acts that they may see for themselves as to whether or not the office is being properly conducted by me.

If given the opportunity I shall strive most zealously to show my appreciation of this high compliment by working steadfastly to the best interest of the entire county. Having accepted I now most earnestly beseech my friends and supporters everywhere to go to work for my election which now seems assured.

With the kindest of feeling for you all and thanking you in advance for your valuable efforts in my behalf, I beg to remain yours, A. W. STEWART.

Land, Stock and Crop

Miller & Eubanks bought in this county and Garrard 420 cattle at 3 1/2 to 4 cents.—Stanford Democrat.

Mr. Joe A. Cohen sold last week to Ben Gay, of Clark county, 3 fancy 1,200 lb. feeding cattle at 4 cts.—Woodford Sun.

M. J. Farris bought 20 head of 1,100 pound cattle of John Menifee, of Lincoln county, at $3.50 per hundred.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

Corn buyers at Nicholasville are offering $3.25 per barrel for the new crop. When shrinking is taken into consideration it is estimated that this price will represent $4 by spring.—Winchester Democrat.

L. Josephi purchased this week of A. S. Thompson, 42 head of export cattle at $4.75 to $5.25; weight 1,465. He also bought 125 head of good cattle of W. B. Stipp and B. Stephens, of Clintonville, at same price. C. Alexander, Jr., bought 200 feeding cattle in Fleming county, at 4 cents.—Bourbon News.

The orange crop of the approaching season is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at between 1,600,000 and 1,700,000 boxes, which will net the growers an average of at least two dollars per box. Experts hold to the view that within five years the yield of oranges in Florida will be as large as it ever was, and as much greater acreage is now planted in groves, the crop will continue to increase in size until it reaches enormous proportions. It is the opinion of the department that the glory of Florida as an orange-producing State lies in the future, not in the past. J. A. Ramsey, auctioneer, reports the sale of Ben B. Eubank, deceased, on October 3, as well attended and fair prices realized. Among the sales were the following: A lot of mountain cows with young calves brought an average price of about $20; some good milk cows, $30 to $40; 5 fat heifers, 725 lbs., $20 each; yearling heifers, $15 to $17; good, short yearling steers, $22 each; 10 grade ewes, $3.30; 10 grade ewes, $2.60; 11 grade ewes, $2.35; Southdown buck, $7.50; hogs brought 5 1/2 cts.; sow and 7 pigs, $16; work mare, $66; saddle horse, $49; wheat 70 cts. per bushel; corn, $2.50 and $3 in the field.—Winchester Democrat.

STRAY COW.

At my place, between Mt. Vernon and Brodhead, one pale red cow, white spot on back between the hips, and dehorned. Has been at my place 2 or 3 weeks. Owner can get same by proving property and paying damages.

JAS. MARET RE-ELECTED SECRETARY AND TREASURER.

We are pleased to note that our fellow townsman, James Maret, one of the pioneers in the independent telephone movement, was unanimously re-elected secretary and treasurer of the Kentucky Telephone Association at its meeting in Owensboro, October 2. It shows what confidence the telephone people, who have capital invested in our State to the amount of two and a half million, have in their secretary who was one of the original movers in getting up the organization back in 1898. The old monopoly, the Bell company, have been forced in the past three years to reduce their prices to something nearer reason, wherever the Independents have come into the field. The history of the old Bell companies has been that of extortion and injustice and not until the Independents got a foot-hold would they ever place a phone in a village, at a farm house, a cross-roads postoffice, except at rates ranging from $130 to $360 per year; yet this same old octopus attempts to fasten its tentacles upon free Kentuckians. Read what the Independents, or Home companies, are doing and you will see that the days of extortion by the monopoly are numbered in this old Commonwealth.

A. W. STEWART, familiarly called "Gus" Stewart, has accepted the call to run for the office of Sheriff of Rockcastle county. In presenting him, we can truly say, there is no more manly man, no more honorable and upright gentleman in our county than is he. He is not a politician or a seeker for office, and has agreed to run only after much solicitation and many earnest requests made by the people generally regardless of their party affiliations. Heretofore he has often been requested to run for office, but, loving the quietude and pleasures of home better than the glare of public life, he has steadfastly refused all overtures until now when the pressure on him to run was so generous and general, so earnest and spontaneous that at last he has said to the people "thy will be done." Is he fully worthy of your confidence? In the little grave yard where rests the mortal dust of Judge John M. Fish is written on the marble shaft above his tomb; "Go ask his neighbors." So we say to the people of Rockcastle, if they wish to know whom we offer them, we say, "Go ask his neighbors." By them he is known and by them he is beloved. He turns not to them the cold hand or the icy glair, but he is ever first with the open hand of charity, administering to the wants of the unfortunate and the needy, without ostentation or display. He is a man of fine business ability, honest, sober, and industrious. Should he be elected he will not be the sheriff of any clique or clan, party or faction, but of the whole people. Elect him and you will never regret the day you made him Sheriff.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has inaugurated his new Southern policy, of which there has been so much talk, and which most every one thought to be only talk with "Teddy," when he appointed Gov. Thomas G. Jones, of Alabama, a gold democrat, as Federal Judge in the Alabama district. If the "rough rider" sets his head to do a thing, that, he is pretty sure to do.

The Sulton, of Jolo, refused the Congressional party, touring the Philippines an audience.

The continuation, of the trial of Caleb Powers, which was called at Georgetown Tuesday, will not be granted, nothing more than time to get the witnesses ready, as only 6 of the 213 for the defense answered.

LEVEL GREEN

Dear Editor: I have been on the sick roll for eight long years, during which time I've taken all sort of doctor stuffs and lots & lots of patent medicines and drunk a most gallurn of whisky, but all to no effect, here I am sick yet, barely able to walk up hill and so poor or lean that my bones rattle like empty bottles when I do walk. Now I think I could be cured, or greatly benefited if the Drs. could agree as to my ailment for then I would not have to change medicine so often. I have taken 100 different kinds or the same kind under a 100 different names and cant tell which fur they all actid a like. I suppose I took fust & last 25 different "ines," sulfates, carbonates, be-carbonates, elixirs &c., then calomel, and more "ines," as strychnine, quidine morfine and—well I have forgotten sum ov the most important (ie) those that came nearest killing me; and then Betsy has given me 40 different kinds ov tea sich as hoor houn, cat houn, bone set, sage sassy fac, sassafriller and now she is tryin me, on yaller mete an I do believe it is helpin ov me too and ef she do cure me, her and me will go into the patent medicine bus and we'll want all the yaller mete black mete, May apple &c that we can procure. Well my school iz 3-5-in the past. I have lost 1/2 day since July 15th and whether I am blessed with the privilege of "rounding up" or not this my last attempt. For 37 years I have followed the profession more or less—sometimes more and sometimes less,—and every year I become less able, financially, to stand a drouth or a late spring.

Our farmers, the soul and body of every land, are using every endeavor to save all their fodder, and they report corn scarcely a half crop but with economy begun in time and practiced strictly till the 1st of May we may pull through.

Not much wheat will be sown in this part this fall; a short crop this summer discouraged the farmers. This should not be so; now is the time to sow large crops of wheat and rye.

I suppose the good road advocates have gone into politix, or have become disgusted and hunted their holes leaving the cause to die all alone. "We are too poor" killed them. My friends this is only a weapon used by a few taxpayers of the county who scately ever trod our roads on horse back or otherwise, for the purpose of scaring you in to voting against the peoples best interest.

Since I began this article our worthy Supt. of schools visited us and after his regular routine of business he addressed himself to the children for 30 minutes during the whole of which time he said something not only good but very good. I wish he could be with us for one day in each of the remaining eight weeks of my term, for he made work lighter and duties more pleasant.

While it is a fact that fate has decreed that the place now occupied by Mr. Davis will soon be taken by another yet let his hat be cast wherever it may: "He is a friend to education," will continue to be said by the teacher of Rockcastle county whether differing with him on other topics or not.

Very Truly
BUCK VARNON.

A poet has said of the saloon that it is appropriately called a bar:

A bar to heaven, a door to hell;
Whoever named it, named it well.
A bar to manliness and wealth,
A door to want and broken health.
A bar to honor, pride and fame,
A door to sin and grief and shame.
A bar to hope, a bar to prayer,
A door to darkness and despair.
A bar to honored, useful life,
A door of brawling, senseless strife.
A bar to all that's true and brave,
A door to every drunkard's grave.
A bar to joys that home imparts,
A door to tears and aching hearts.
A bar to heaven, a door to hell,
Whoever named it, named it well.

The stoutest and truest Americans are the very men who have the least sympathy with the people who invoke the spirit of Americanism to aid what is vicious in our Government, or to throw obstacles in the way of those who strive to reform it.

The man who is content to let politics go from bad to worse, jesting at the corruption of politicians; the man who is content to see the maladministration of justice without an immediate and resolute effort to reform it, is shirking his duty, and is preparing the way for infinite woe in the future.

Revs. Combs and Livingston closed the protracted meeting at Mareburg Saturday night, with 11 additions.

Rev. A. J. Pike, assisted by Rev. Wm. Kuykendall closed a 12 days' meeting at Gilead church, Madison county, which resulted in 20 additions; 15 by conversion, five by letter and restoration. Mr. Pike has been pastor of Gilead church for 12 years and has baptized 250 persons into that church.—Rev. D. George S. Savage, of Winchester, is in the 87th year of his age. He entered the ministry in 1835. He says: "After all, I consider the 32 years' work as agent for the American Bible Society for Kentucky and Tennessee as the great work of my life." And surely it is a work upon which a man might well look back with profound gratitude for in those years he supplied 153,397 destitute families, 41,947 destitute adults and 12,571 destitute children with the Scriptures and altogether distributed 1,278,885 copies of the Word of God. He received and faithfully accounted for $946,972.25 of the society's money. In the prosecution of his work he traveled 525,278 miles.—Interior Journal.

There are plenty of scoundrels always ready to try to belittle reform movements or to bolster up existing iniquities in the name of Americanism.

Hard, brutal indifference to the right, an equally brutal short-sightedness as to the inevitable results of corruption and injustice, are baleful beyond measure; yet they are characteristic of a great many Americans who think themselves perfectly respectable, and who are considered thriving, prosperous men by their easy-going fellow citizens.

their lives to sailing the seas and know their varying moods, and they one and all regard it as a most remarkable exploit.

Captain Slocum and the boat in which he made his around the world voyage will be at the Pan-American Exposition next summer. The craft will ride upon the waters of the Beautiful Park Lake, where it may be viewed or boarded by Exposition visitors. That it will prove to be a great attraction goes without saying.

The intrepid Yankee globe circler—a slender man, not above the medium height and is somewhat bald, but there is little gray in the fringe of surviving hair or in his full beard. He has blue eyes, which are frank and direct. He possesses a dry humor which is very amusing. That he is daring and plucky is attested by his long and solitary trip.

The boat in which Captain Slocum made his voyage is named the Spray. It was originally a fishing boat, supposed to be a century old, and when it came into Captain Slocum's possession was in process of decay. Unaided, he rebuilt it upon the original lines, and the splendid manner in which it behaved on the long tour is sufficient evidence that he builded well.

Captain Slocum sailed from Boston on April 24, 1895, and his voyage consumed 3 years and 2 months, coming to a close during the Spanish-American war. In lieu of a chronometer he had an old tin clock, but he was rarely at fault in his longitude. The voyage was attended with many unusual incidents. The first occurred after the Spray had left her first port of call, the Azores. The Captain had eaten freely of plums and a native cheese, and they did not agree with him. He was attacked with stomachic cramps. He double reefed the mainsail and with a full jib put the sloop on her course, lashed the wheel and went below to the cabin, where he rolled in agony on the floor. Becoming delicious, he imagined that a strange man came on board, announced himself as "one of Columbus' crew" and guided the craft. A blow came up, and the Spray ran like a deer. When the Captain regained his full senses and was able to go on deck, she was holding true to her course. She had made 90 miles during the night in the rough sea.

The Spray went through the very dangerous Straits of Magellan, whose shores are strewn with wrecks and inhabited by pirates, without accident, but after weeks consumed in the passage was driven by a furious gale southward and thence eastward around Cape Horn, necessitating a second passage of the Straits.

Captain Slocum was received at every landing place with the most cordial hospitality, for his name was known the world around among seafaring men, and the cable news of his progress went before him. In Tasmania Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson visited him. In Tasmania Lord Hampden was a caller. At the Cape Sir Alfred Milner saw him. A pass over the Cape railways permitted the skipper case of a windmill being employed to do any work was in Alexandria 1500 B. C., when an invention driven by wind power was employed to operate a musical instrument. As even this must have been the product of evolution it leaves us entirely in the dark as to the actual origin. However, we know that windmills were employed in useful labor in many parts of Europe long before Columbus discovered America.

A political cartoon titled "THE SPRAY" depicting a man in a top hat and suit, with a large, bushy beard, looking down at a small boat. The boat is labeled "SPRAY" and "LUSTON". The man's face is framed by an oval, and the boat is on a body of water with a distant shore.

These old windmills were quaint affairs. Some of them floated on water and were turned by hand to meet the vagaries of the wind. A later development was built on a post, and still later the roof of the building was pivoted, which allowed the building itself to remain stationary.

It remained for the engineers of the nineteenth century to construct a wind engine that was at once simple, useful and practical. The amount of power developed and usefully applied by this time honored invention amounts in the aggregate to hundreds of thousands of horsepower.

At the Pan-American Exposition a group of windmills will be gathered together and planted in a corner of the grounds, where they will be required to pump water and in other ways demonstrate their usefulness. These will comprise many different types, showing the evolution of the engine from the old fashioned four sail pattern down to the ordinary multiple sails sprocket plan in which the sails are automatically adjusted to the wind pressure and the speed is regulated by a governor. Some of these engines will develop a tremendous power, while others are simply devised as a cheap and reliable means of working a farmer's pump.

Experiments extending over a period of years have been conducted for the purpose of generating electricity by this means. Developments along these lines so far have not been entirely satisfactory, though indications point to ultimate success. The difficulties met with are principally owing to the inconsistency of the wind, which must be overcome by storing in the energy of the gale to be given off as required. As the slow development of the storage battery retards this important achievement we await with impatience the improvements in this direction that we know ought to be made. The time will undoubtedly come when electric lighting will be done in this manner—in fact, the electric light plant in a village in Scotland is now partially operated by a wind wheel which is built on the horizontal principle.

To those unfamiliar with the production of the wind engine as used at the present time a visit to this section of the Exposition will be a revelation. Hitherto this early invention has been useful merely to the farmer and stockman. Possibilities in the immediate future point to a much wider and more extended usefulness when power from this source will be bottled up in storage batteries and shipped to distant points to be used in the mechanic arts.
